Objectives & Content

This course is designed to provide students with the opportunity to learn and apply scientific working methods in preparation for their Bachelor's thesis. Students are guided step by step through the process of developing and structuring their academic work. They will have to write a (pre-)scientific article.

The course addresses fundamental questions such as the nature of scientific work, how to identify and access scientific literature, and how to formulate a research question. It further explores the types of research questions, their connection to research methods, and the main categories of research methods. In addition, students learn how to structure their Bachelor's thesis, present their results appropriately, and discuss their findings.

The course follows a hands-on approach, encouraging students to engage with these topics independently while receiving structured guidance. The goal is to support students in successfully preparing and completing their Bachelor's thesis.

Course Policies

The course has “prüfungsimmanenten Charakter”. Attendance is compulsory throughout the semester. Absence from two course units is possible. A course unit is a 90-minute session. Further absences will automatically result in a “fail” grade. Attendance is compulsory during assessment (e.g. presentations etc.).

Both the course and the assessment are held in English. During the course active participation is required during all lessons.

Students wishing to take this course must register via u:find/u:space (without points) during the registration period. The maximum number of participants is 24.

Registered students who, for whatever reason, are not able to take the course must de-register electronically by the 8th October 2025. Students who decide to drop the course after this deadline will be graded with 5 (failed).

It is absolutely essential that all registered students attend the first session on 7th October 2025 (Introduction). As failure to do so will result in their exclusion from the course.

Course Structure

The lectures take place on Tuesdays and Thursdays 9.45 am till 11.15 am . Please see the course schedule below for the seminar rooms.

Please plan accordingly, all other information is in Moodle.

Assessment

The evaluation is structured as follows:

- 2 Class presentations (50% of total grade)
- Pre-scientific paper (50% of total grade)

A minimum of 50 per cent of the points needs to be attained overall to pass the course. The grading system is as follows:

88% - 100% | 1

75% - 87% | 2

63% - 74% | 3

50% - 62% | 4
